Peitz named HTC Teacher of the Year

Blue & Silver Celebration raises close to $50K for HTC teachers

FORT MADISON - On a weekend holiday usually meant for the color green, Linda Peitz blushed a little red on Saturday when she was tapped as the Teacher of the Year at the annual Silver & Blue Celebration at McAleer Hall.

Peitz, a 6th grade teacher and 7th grade science teacher at Holy Trinity and the former Aquinas High School, was also recognized for her role in merging HTCC into HTC.

According to committee marketing director Donna Borst, teachers at HTC earn considerably less than they could if they taught at a public school so the school board wanted to try and give them a little extra if possible.

The idea was born out of a land donation to Holy Trinity years ago by Brad and Jeanne Deery. The board took that $15,000 generously given HTC and put it directly into the annual program. The bonuses were so well received that the board tried to find a way to make it an annual program and the Blue & Silver Celebration was started.

Over the past two years, the board has been able to give nice bonuses to the staff as a result of the annual program. Jim Baier, Inc. had generously given HTC $15,000 every year for the past ten years to use to help cover costs for the teachers.

Borst said the board took that $15,000 and put it directly into that event and distributed it as the funding go-between for the project.

Barker Financial Group of Iowa City has taken over the project and Varley said the Iowa Economic Development Authority asked the city to take over as the funding go-between for the project. He also said the IEDA would look favorable on the city contracting with SEIRPC because of the group’s experience in dealing with the projects like this.

Varley said work could start as early as May and the Cattermole Library and old Lee County Bank building, both in the Main Street district on Avenue G, would see work next. Rehabbing the FORT MADISON - City officials are prepared to sign an agreement allowing the Southeast Iowa Regional Planning Commission to administer work on the Cattermole Library and old Lee County Bank building.

City Manager David Varley said at the last city council meeting that he was bringing the agreement for approval so the project could move forward. The city council will meet Tuesday at 5:30 p.m.

every dollar back to the teachers. Jim Baier's commitment ended last year, but both the Rashid family and both Pothitakis families have helped make up the difference.

We do not have the numbers tallied yet, but we are hopeful that we will once again bring in over $50,000 for our teachers.

The event recognizes every teacher with the number of years in the HTC system and the total numbers of years teaching.

Funding for the event comes from ticket sales, donated auction items, cash donations as well as in-kind donations from the committee, kitchen, bar and auction volunteers and Rita Holtkamp who spends close to a week preparing the meal.

Auction items

Auction items helped raise money Saturday at the Holy Trinity Catholic Silver & Blue celebration. The event raised close to $50,000 for teachers in the system.

Sears building is still up in the air as Barker doesn’t think putting upper story units above the Sears store would be a viable option. Officials are hoping to see them rehab the exterior of the building and keep it up to standards of Sears’ franchise so that business can stay viable.

The city is also considering an amendment to parking ordinances with regards to a 48-hour parking limit on public roadways, parking citations and parking restrictions for loading and unloadng freight among other changes.

In other action, the council:
• will vote on a resolution to set a public hearing for April 4 on the sale of 3034 Avenue K to Habitat For Humanity.
• will vote on a resolution appointing City Public Works Director Larry Driscoll as the city's Title VI Coordinator and approve the Title VI Non-Discrimination Assurances and Agreement.
• will vote to approve the purchase of a cold planer from Sinclair Tractor in the amount of $12,000.
• will vote to approve a closed landfill land agreement between the city and the Great River Regional Waste Authority.

Parking amendments also on agenda
