Group has $900 of $1,645 needed for flags for circle

FORT MADISON - With just over two weeks to go, the 34th Place Neighborhood watch group is more than halfway to their goal of replacing all the flags at the Soldier’s Circle.

The flags at the memorial in Oakland Cemetery on Avenue O have seen better days and the west end group, who typically are watching out for each other’s property, are out to honor local fallen veterans and are asking for the community’s help to help them reach their goal.

Lorie Seager, one of the members of the watch group said the cost of 50 flags would be $1,645 and to date they’ve raised approximately $900.

“We’re going to set up a table at the upcoming car show at Baxter Sports Complex and the Dry Creek Neighborhood watch is collecting some money, too,” Seager said.

The Pen City Car Show will take place on May 6 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and donations will be accepted at that event. It’s also a pretty cool place to see some jazzed up automobiles.

The group says the flags are in poor condition and there is no budget anywhere to replace the flags. The Fort Madison Fire Department has taken on the responsibility of putting up and bringing down the flags, but nothing is in place to replace them.

“The VFW used to put up all the flags out there, but they’re not here anymore,” said group member Berl Cartwright.

“The fire department, through family,” Group has $900 of $1,645 needed for flags for circle

BESIDE THE POINT

New health, school facilities set examples for our children

I was driving home from somewhere Tuesday, surely passing myself going in two directions and I saw a pick-up truck with a large wooden sign in the back that said “Vote No on Health Department, Schools”. It was kind of an older truck, but still obviously able to serve a purpose and I smiled a little at the approach. But the fact that it seemed to be spray painted on a wooden platform turned vertical and strapped down in the back of a pickup seemed strikingly apropos, in my mind anyway. Sort of outdated, if you will.

In many ways our local elementary schools, both catholic and public, and our county health department are also out of time. They’re expensive, to be sure. All told we’re talking about $35.6 million in new construction. The proposed K-3 Elementary school is priced at $27 million, while the new Holy Trinity Catholic campus addition is tagged at $6 million, and the new health department is set at $2.6 million. The health department building will be shared by all county tax payers, the new public elementary would be supported by tax payers in the district and Holy Trinity is solely on donations to the project.

HTC needs $3.6 million to start the project per requirements of the Diocese, and on Wednesday, Brian Foecke, the building chairman for HTC, said he hopes to have that by mid-summer with hopes of starting construction at the end of the 2018 school year. They want to minimize the displacement of students to one ly ties, just kind of inherited the flags and put them up, but there is no funding anywhere whatsoever, to replace those flags.

The flags cost $32.90 each if purchased in groups of more than 50, so the group is looking to raise $2,000 to purchase enough flags to replace the worn ones or have flags donated, but they are asking that the flags have the dimensions of 5.5’ x 9’ and be all-nylon, all-weather flags.

“What we’re trying to do on Soldier’s Circle is help the fire department who has said the flags are all torn and tattered,” Seager said. The group didn’t necessarily want to do a fundraiser, but wanted to make sure all the flags were replaced and sometimes it’s easier for people to just donate the flag rather than making the purchase themselves. The watch group is a non-profit so all donations are tax deductible.

The group is hoping to have enough flags to replace the worn ones by Memorial Day so they are setting a May 12 goal to have enough flags donated or money raised to purchase the flags.

Two of the group’s members have volunteered to take all calls to make donations and provide additional information. Jan Gill can be reached at 319-372-7475 and Lorie Seager can be reached at 319-470-9376. Anyone interested in donating a flag or donating money to the project should contact either of the two members.

FM Rotary spearheads pergola project, after trees planted

BY PCC STAFF

FORT MADISON - The past two weeks have seen some attractive improvements at the PORT recreational trail on the west side of Fort Madison. Volunteers from the local high schools and service clubs helped plant trees along the first phase of the trail that runs north and south on property east of the Fort Madison Middle School.

Local Rotarians have also donated a pergola, just south of the trail head on Bluff Road. The project cost about $10,000 according to Rotarian Larry Smith and isn’t quite finished. Donations of services from area companies and organizations have helped bring the project to fruition including $4,000 from the Fort Madison Rotary Club that triggered another $4,000 matching Rotary grant, and supplies and labor donated by Jones Contracting of West Point and the City of Fort Madison helped with the work.

An Alliant Energy tree grant put young trees along with west side of the cement trail and those were planted several weeks ago with the help of local students and volunteers. Phase 1 of the project, which connects Bluff Road - just east of the junior high campus - to Ivanhoe Park is open and available for recreation enthusiasts. However, some lighting for the trail is still being worked on.

The committee is looking at using solar lighting for the trail or other energy efficient models.

Total plans for the trail include Phase 1 which is almost complete; Phase 2 which is in the works and will connect the trail with the Baxter Sports Complex and then a third phase will take the trail west further to Fort Madison Community Hospital.

KEOKUK - The Fort Madison Lady Hounds mixed things up a bit in Keokuk Tuesday and finished fourth at the Keo-issippi Relays.

Brett Schneider took a break from the 800-meter run and instead took a whack at the 400-meter hurdles and came away with first place in that event with a time of 1:07.72. She also claimed first in the 400-meter hurdles with a 1:07.74 time.

Sierra Howardson also scored for FMHS with a 4:31.23 third-place finish.

The Drake Relays are set for Thursday and the girls travel to Fairfield on Monday. Complete results are below.
