BY PCC STAFF

FORT MADISON – The Fort Madison Area Chamber of Commerce will host the Small Business Breakfast & Expo during National Small Business Week beginning April 30 to honor Fort Madison area small businesses. Nominations for the Micro Business of the Year and Small Business of the Year award will be acknowledged and the winners announced during the morning festivities on Thursday, May 4th at the Comfort Inn & Suites. The Small Business Expo will open promptly at 7:00am. Small businesses will line the perimeter of the banquet room allowing breakfast attendees to browse the booths, gather information, and make important business connections. Attendees will then enjoy a breakfast buffet followed by the awards ceremony for the Micro Business of the Year and Small Business of the Year awards. Nominations were solicited from the Fort Madison Area Chamber of Commerce membership then divided into the appropriate category; Micro Business (0-5 employees) or Small Business (6-99 employees). The Nominations Review Committee comprised of past chamber event committee members had the task of choosing the award winners. “The committee members take their responsibility seriously.”

County attorney candidates hold final debate

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG

DONELLSON - The two candidates for county attorney struck a chord of harmony in the final debate prior to Tuesday’s election. Current Assistant Lee County Attorney Clinton Boddicker and County Attorney Ross Braden met one last time Thursday night at the Pilot Grove Community Center in Donnellson for a debate that was cordial for the most part, with the exception of an exchange about the appointment of Braden in March as County Attorney.

“I’m not speculating about what the Board of Supervisors was thinking at the time they made the appointment. I’m saying they weren’t thinking about that, and if they had, they would have done something better.”

-Clinton Boddicker, Asst. County Attorney

Boddicker said he would have done something different. If he had been reappointed, he would have brought in new staff and new ideas.

“I would just say that if we’re going to be speculating as to what the board of supervisors were thinking when they made the appointment, maybe they were thinking about a small investment looking to the long term in the county,” Braden said. “If we were going to speculate about what they were thinking, maybe that’s what they were thinking.” In a rebuttal, Boddicker said that, although Des Moines County and Henry County have taken some of the costs for free, costs were starting to pile up.

“Something better,” I wonder what that means and what that means to the people that do support the decision of the board and the people that

Mayhem returns

BY PCC STAFF

FORT MADISON - Fort Madison Main Street hosts Mayhem on the Mississippi a 5K obstacle course run on May 13th. The run will take place in Rodeo Park, a new venue for this event. With the slogan, “First Compete, Then go Eat,” this run is far from typical. Runners will conquer an inflatable obstacle course and jump through tires, and slide to a finish among other great obstacles.

The obstacles are meant to be fun rather than challenging, all are optional. All ages are welcome, we have registrations ranging from 10 to 64 years old. The race begins at 10 a.m. After finishing the race you can celebrate by refueling at the Annual Main Street BBQ at Faethyl’s Cigar Store, 832 Avenue G. At the BBQ you can enjoy a cold one while listening to music and munching on the finest BBQ around. The Main Street BBQ starts at noon. Take a day of it by visiting downtown shops during The Quilt Walk while attending some of the great events happening that afternoon and evening.

KEOKUK - The Fort Madison Bloodhounds snapped a four meet win streak Thursday with a close 5-4 loss on Keokuk high school’s tennis courts.

The Chiefs and Hounds split the singles action three matches each and it came down to the doubles matches to determine the winner.

Dante Seaney fell to Keokuk’s Reid Rider 0-6, 2-6 at No. 1 singles, but Johnny Hernandez, who hadn’t lost in his last three matches, put up another win over Dillon. Hernandez took the opening set relatively easily with a 6-3 win, but had to go a second set tiebreaker and won 7-4 to take the match.

Sam Avery fell in straight sets 4-6, 3-6 at No. 3 singles. The alternating wins continued when Austin Kreuger was able to get into a tiebreaker with Peyton Skender at No. 4 singles after losing the first set 2-6. Krueger then scored the next two points before Skender got one to make it 9-7 in the tiebreaker. Krueger had the next serve and was able to score without a return.

At No. 5, the Chief’s Gage Stice defeated the Hounds Conrad Hellman again in a match that needed a tiebreaker. Stice won the first set 6-3, but Hellman came back to take the second set 6-4 forcing the tiebreaker, but Stice got up a couple serves and won 10-7.

Tim Shin secured the singles split when he dumped Keokuk’s Michael Simpson 7-6 (7-5) in the first set and an easier 6-1 win in the second.

The two teams split the doubles No. 1 and No. 2 matches with Seaney and Hernandez falling to Rider and Haner 2-6, 4-6.

Avery and Krueger got revenge in the No. 2 slot with a 6-4, 6-0 win and Hellman and Shin took Simpson and Skender into a tiebreaker after an easy first set win 6-1. Keokuk came back in the second set with a 6-7 win on a 5-7 tiebreaker and then took the match 10-5.

“There were three matches in there that could easily have gone either way and we were in a position to do it, we just couldn’t get the ball to drop in,” said Head Coach Dean Hogan.

The Hounds host Mt. Pleasant on Friday.

In junior varsity action, Blake Feuerhammer downed Cole Pirice after falling 5-7 in the first set before coming back in the second set with a 6-2 win and then won the two set tiebreaker 10-7.

ASk about our Shingle Recycling Program

Roofing Companies and Residents Receive Discounted Tipping Fees When Recycling Asphalt Shingles Properly!

Conceal carry, staffing, and drugs topics of debate support me. So, again, I guess I question the use of the word ‘better,’ Braden said before moving into a question of how they would handle vicious dog complaints in Powdertown.

Both candidates said they would favor increasing the full time attorneys in the department to three and one part-time. The staff now is two full time and two part-time attorneys. They would also like to see the secretarial staff enhanced to ease the burden, especially with all the pending retirements in the next few years, including Bruce McDonald. Bodlicker also suggested adding a victims/witness coordinator.

Another question focused on courthouse security and conceal carry permits in public buildings. Bodlicker said our courthouses are not very secure and it was unfortunate the state was moving toward a concealed carry mentality. Bodlicker said that move interferes with Home Rule law and that the county should be the one to determine the security of their courthouses. He said Lynn County, where he practiced for a short time, had full detectors on the only entrance and exit to the building and, unfortunately, the county may need to move in that direction to keep someone from getting hurt or killed.

Braden said that conceal carry permits have been in place for awhile and he is unaware of any issues. He said when violent offenders are in court, either the sheriff’s department is monitoring the courthouse, or if it’s a violent offender from Iowa State Penitentiary, the prison’s emergency response team escorts the offenders.

The Lee County Narcotics Task Force and Lee County Drug Court were also brought up. Bodlicker had been appointed to the Drug Court Prosecutor in early 2010 until just a few months ago.

“It’s a very important program where we take people with serious drug problems, and if it wasn’t for that program, they would be going to prison,” Bodlicker said of the drug court.

He said he’s been working very closely with the task force to get warrants at all different times of the day and week and said he hopes the task force continues to be fully funded. He said drugs in Lee County are the single biggest problem facing our local criminal justice system.

Braden said, as the county attorney, he’s on the board that controls the task force and he’s already met with the board since taking office. He said grant writing is critical to the program and he said he wants to make sure those grants are done correctly to ensure the funding as well.

“They do a great job in Lee County addressing the drug problem, in particular the methamphetamine that has been such a blight on our community. Things have changed from the shake and bake labs to the ice methamphetamine that’s being imported.”

Braden said he would do anything in his power as the county attorney to keep the Drug Court program viable.

A question from the audience focused on the dismissal of charges against protestors during the Dakota Pipeline construction.

Bodlicker said he had 24 to 25 simple misdemeanor jury trials and Lee County isn’t prepared to get all those done prior to October. He said he met with former County attorney Mike Short and Braden and offered a dismissal to the trespass charges if they agreed to pay court costs. Protestors charged with resisting arrest had to plead guilty to the charge.

Braden said when Bodlicker approached him, it was right after he was appointed, and admittedly, he was overwhelmed.

“When Clinton approached me, he said this was what he was going to do and I said, ‘You know what, go ahead and do what you were going to do.’”

He said his biggest regret on that was not getting Sheriff Stacy Weber’s opinion due to the amount of time and money spent by the county to deal with those issues.

The American Association of University Women sponsored all three of the debates.
