Lee County first responders tend to trauma victims as part of a Lee County active shooter simulation Wednesday morning.

County Emergency Management Agency Director Steve Cirinna. “Each location and hospital has a hot wash where they talk about what went well and what they need to work on. The plan, at this point, is we have another meeting and bring all the stuff in and talk about how are we going about improving on our processes and responses. But yeah... we thought everything went pretty well.”

According to a release from Lee County Sheriff Stacy Weber, “an active shooter is an individual actively engaged in killing or attempting to kill people in a populated area, and recent active shooter incidents have underscored the need for a coordinated response by law enforcement and others to save lives.” Weber wrote

PSAP board to search for new director

MONTROSE - After officially accepting the resignation of LeeComm director Diana Finch-Smith, the Public Service Answering Point Control board decided to start discussing her replacement at its June meeting in Keokuk.

At its regular board meeting on Wednesday, the board voted 5-0 to accept the resignation of Finch-Smith effective May 10. The board paid Finch-Smith a severance package as part of the separation, or release, agreement.

“I don’t know the exact dollar amount, the board agreed on three months salary and three months insurance,” said Dave Hinton. “It’s unusual for us, but what we’ve come to understand is that it’s normal and an industry standard for this type of position.”

Hinton said in the interim, administrative dispatcher Marla Hemmie will be handling the department.

“If she needs any guidance she’s to ask the sheriff’s since they’re in the same building and then with me as the second point of contact as

FMCH conducts a lockdown as part of the simulation drill

"We haven't completed our hot wash, where all the key players get together and really pick it apart," Marlin said. "We're not here to say this was fun...this was great, but to see what can we do better with a critical eye. We get everyone's input to see what can we do better and how to be faster - be more prepared." Marlin said one of the goals was to practice as an organization on how to implement a lock down with very little notice and practice large scale trauma situations.

"One of our goals was to practice as an organization on how to lock down our facility to keep it safe for our patients, visitors, and staff. We wanted to practice mass casualty, blood supply, and back-up blood supply. Honestly, it was for us to test on things we don't do on a routine basis. We just want to make sure we identify appropriate to be here, safe to be here, and get them to the right place as soon as we can. So we will stop them and make sure we escort them to the right place in those situations."

Solon ends HTC soccer season with 3-0 loss

BY CHUCK VANDEMBERG

SOLON - It’s kind of weird they were even in the same class, but Holy Trinity Catholic, whose entire high school enrollment is almost equal to Solon’s graduating class, hung around with the Spartans for most of the game before falling 3-0 to end the season Wednesday at Solon.

The Crusaders had the first couple shots in the game and seemed to have pushed the ball to the side as well as some leaping bumps on the night and frequent knockdowns.

Merschman had 10 saves of their own at HTC senior Connor Conrad was playing deep defense for the Crusaders and regularly cleared the ball on Solon advances.

Senior Nick Pothitakis got several shots on goal in the first half, but couldn’t find the angle or velocity to get by the goalie Bailey Merschman. Merschman said after the game, “I think the heart and determination of our seniors kind of pushed everybody else. They didn’t want the season to come to an end tonight.”

The second half started much the same as the first, but the Crusaders were able to keep the ball in the Solon half of the pitch more often than the first. Solon was able to capitalize on a break away with 25:05 left in the game. The Spartans had a three-on-two press to the goal and got the ball up in the air when Benjamin Carr headed one into the goal high and to Merschman’s left to put Solon up 2-0.

After about 10 more minutes and no goals scored, Culbertson sent Conrad into a forward position hoping to provide a spark for the Crusaders. “We put Connor up there for an extra body just trying to get some kind of spark,” Culbertson said.

Pothitakis seemed to work well with Conrad in a scoring position but the two couldn’t get a ball in the net despite several close shots on goal and some penalty and corner kicks.

“When we got down 2-0, we put Connor up top just for another man to capitalize on a break away as we had hoped,” he said. “We lost a lot of close games. We blew a couple of leads that we shouldn’t have, but as a whole it was a good season. I’m proud of what our team turned out to do at the very end. We improved a lot as the season went on.”

The Crusaders finished the season 8-10 overall.

Solon’s Jorel Justus launches a penalty kick in the first half Wednesday night as Pothitakis, Alec Mehmet (18), Josh Caru-so (13), Ben Tinguely (left back) and Bailey Merschman (keeper) prepare to defend the kick.

“Four seasons ago,” Culbertson said, “we were down 2-0, and we got down 2-0 and got back in. We just started over and we got our momentum and got a couple. We’ve been rolling ever since.”

The Spartans used a kind of spark. “Culbertson said. “At the beginning of the game we started a little slow,” Pothitakis said. “We weren’t working the ball up the field as well as they were - getting it outside and back in. We just started slow.”

But head coach Ryan Culbertson said he was happy that his squad was only down by one at the half.

“This is a good team that’s played some really good competition. Our kids thought after going into the half down by just one against this team that they had a chance,” Culbertson said. “We praised them on how well they played in the first half and I think the heart and determination of our seniors kind of pushed everybody else. They didn’t want the season to come to an end tonight.”
