Teens injured in Friday ATV mishap

FORT MADISON - A recent string of graffiti vandalism in the area including damage to the Fareway Grocery building currently under construction is being met head on by local authorities and businesses.

An anonymous donor has offered up $1,000 for information leading to the arrest of the perpetrator(s).

Fareway CEO Reynolds Cramer said Saturday the company will match that offer and add some. "We appreciate the local individual who is offering up $1,000 to catch the individual(s) responsible for this act. Fareway will match this same offer for any information leading to the arrest of the perpetrator(s)," Cramer said.

“We will donate $1,000 for any other vandalism harming the community or any other vandalism done in our city. The work of criminals that are defacing property and harming the community will not get a highlight reel from this publication. However, PCC will feature the mug shots of those arrested in our publication when an arrest is made.”

Varley: Downtown upper story work to start in July

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG  PCC EDITOR

FORT MADISON - There has been a lot of activity going on in Fort Madison this summer. The Hesse 7th Street Marketplace is up and running, downtown business owners are meeting to discuss the future of Avenue G, and work should begin shortly on the upper apartment renovations that have been in the works for the past several years.

Barker Financial Group of Iowa City has stepped to the plate to finish the work on the Cattermole Library and the old Lee County Bank building. The Sears building was also in the original plans, but what improvements will be made to that building are still undecided.

That work was originally set to begin the first week in June, but Friday, Fort Madison City Manager David Varley said the work has been pushed back to the beginning of July. "Most of what they do they self-fund," Varley said. "But since this project involves Community Development Block Grants they’re still working through that documentation and process."

"This a low-to-middle income housing to qualify for those grants so that’s a little different for them, but we should see them beginning in July," he said.

The city will function as the funding pass-through for the project, but the Southeast Iowa Regional Planning Commission will administer the work for the city.
FMHS trapshooters head to nationals in July

MONTROSE - A group of local students from a wide range of age groups will be traveling to Sparta, Illinois this summer to compete in a national trap shooting contest.

The Clay Crushers, a Fort Madison High School sport shooting club, continues to grow in numbers and success culminating in the July 31 trapshooting tournament at the World Shooting Recreational Complex in Sparta. The club is a shared program so all students in the area are eligible to join the club.

Head Coach Rob Faeth said more and more students are joining the local club and nationally the sport is outpacing a lot of traditional high school ball sports. The current team has a roster that exceeds 20 student-athletes.

According to the WSRC website, trapshooting is a specific form of shotgun clay target shooting and is a game of movement, action and split-second timing. It requires the accuracy and skill to repeatedly aim, fire and break the 108 mm discs which are hurled through the air at a speed of 42mph, simulating the flight path of a bird fleeing a hunter. The shooter is required to shoot at a target after he calls "pull."

"I was looking for a new sport. The first year I came out just to test it out and I really liked it so I came out for a second year," he said. "I didn't get my 25 yet but I've been close."

Faeth said Ed Schroeder, a junior high student, has medaled this year at one of the state meets and other student athletes have come close to medaling.

The Fort Madison School Board recently gave permission for the club to travel to Sparta for the national competition.

"They did very well at state and we have some really good shooters on that team. I think they have a chance to do something special out there," she said.

A 25 is when the shooter hits all 25 birds in a round without missing.

Faeth said he took the team to a state meet in late spring where the students shot better than they ever had, just missing bringing home some hardware.

"That's pretty intensive shooting," Faeth said. "But I'm very proud of the way the kids performed. Most of them shot better than they ever had before. We had some that hit over 170 out of 200 pulled."

Board member Lois DiPrima urged the board to let the club make the trip.

Sheldon Edwards has been with Clay Crushers for two years and he said he found it looking for something different to do.

"He's probably one of the top collegiate shooters in the country," his father said.

Great River Regional Waste Authority reminds you to use the 3 R’s!

REDUCE
- Reduce the amount of waste produced in society
  - The best way to manage waste is to not produce it. This can be done by shopping carefully and being aware of a few guidelines.
  - Buy durable goods & products in bulk
  - Avoid over-packaged & disposable goods
  - Use cloth napkins/towels instead of paper napkins/towels
  - Make 2-sided copies whenever possible
  - Maintain central files for multiple individuals
  - Use electronic mail/communications or a central bulletin board

REUSE
- Reuse products for the same purpose or for a different purpose
  - It makes economic & environmental sense to reuse products. Sometimes it takes a creative mind to do so.
  - Sell or Donate old clothes, appliances, toys & furniture
  - Use resealable containers rather than plastic wrap
  - Reuse grocery bags or bring your own cloth bags to the store

RECYCLE
- Recycle/converm common waste into reusable material
  - Recycling is a series of steps that takes a used material and processes, re-manufactures and sells it as a new product. Begin recycling at home and work.
  - Recycle all acceptable products at our recycling bins, stations & trailers (see www.grrwa.com for a complete list of locations)
  - Check for curbside recycling acceptable items & schedules on your local city websites
  - Purchase and use recycled materials for the home & office
  - Implement a composting process for your lawn & garden

Household Hazardous Waste

HTC 7th grade girls end softball season

BY PCC STAFF
WEST POINT - The Holy Trinity Catholic seventh grade girls wrapped up their season going 1-1 at the end of this week. They finish the season with a 7-3 record.

On Thursday the Crusaders played at Danville and lost 12-7.

Mary Hellige pitched six innings striking out four batters. Anna Solczak walked, stole a base and scored a run, while Raquel Schneider had two hits and a run scored. Kayla Box walked twice, had a double, three steals, and a run scored. Kelli Meierotto walked twice and scored twice and Jenna DiPrima walked twice and scored twice.

On Friday the Crusader played West Burlington and won 12-6. Hellige got the win going six innings striking out eight. At the plate she had a sacrifice bunt, a walk and a run scored. Schneider had a hit and a run scored. Box stole two bases and scored two runs. Also on offense, Brooke Mueller had two hits and two runs scored, while Laura Mehmet had two walks and two runs scored. Meierotto had a walk and two hits and two runs scored, and Alesha Hellman had a double and a run scored. Rachel Menke had a walk and a run scored and Alexa Dingman reached by error and stole two bases.

to the Fort Madison Police Department. We believe in this community and the local law enforcement who protect it.”

Pen City Current will also contribute to the reward for information leading to an arrest.

During the overnight hours of June 29-30 2017 a person or persons vandalized the new Fareway Grocery building at 1820 Ave. H in Fort Madison.

The nature of the vandalism is a spray painted message on the east side of the building. The message is “SHOOT COPS NOT DOPE.”

Earlier this year the Police Department investigated a number of incidences of spray paint graffiti. It is unknown at this time whether this incident is related or not.

In a statement Friday, Police Chief Tim Sittig said the program used to cost $900 per year per family, but that has been reduced to $300 thanks in large part to sponsorships.

Shea Dinwiddie who has played other sports as well, including football, has been in the club for the past four years and said he’s trying to get better each year and looks forward to the national meet.

“I’m just trying to improve each year. I did hit a 25 this year and the competition at these types of events is much harder.”

Faeth said state and national competitions make the shooters work not just on the physical part of shooting, but the mental aspect as well.

“Sometimes at these events you can have a half mile of shooters lineup and shooting. That’s a lot of distraction and requires some real focus. It challenges them mentally,” Faeth said. “It’s just a whole lot of fun for these kids and their parents, who have also provided great support.”

Dinwiddie said the program used to cost $900 per year per family, but that has been reduced to $300 thanks in large part to sponsorships.

Faeth said the club has many, many sponsors that help pay for the equipment and supplies for the students and that helps offset the costs to the parents. The Tri-State Gun Club also offers the practicing facility near Montrose.

The club will participate in another state shoot on July 22 prior to the national competition.

Sponsors, parents big part of program staffing schedules. The first day was primarily classroom discussion surrounding symptoms of the disease, reactions and the various types of dementia. The important lesson being driven home, was people with dementia do not process sensory information in the same capacity as other people do.

The second day the Kensington staff brought items that would allow both staff and offenders to get small taste of what a person who has dementia feels like. Gloves that reduce sensation in your hands, shoe inserts that make it uncomfortable to walk, glasses to reduce your ability to see and headphones that simulate audio overstimulation.

The trainees were then given tasks to try to complete while wearing the gear. None were able to complete the tasks successfully.

“I think the exercise was very beneficial” said Bowker. “It provided the caregivers a very different perspective on those they care for.”
