KIDS Committee gearing up for 3rd bond try

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

FORT MADISON - If at first you don't succeed,...

The Kids Committee is back up and running, and aiming at an April bond issue for a new prek-3rd grade elementary school to replace Richardson and Lincoln elementary schools in the Fort Madison School District. The price tag on the new building will be slightly higher than the $27 million when the bond was proposed in December of 2016 and again in June. About 18 people from the committee met on Wednesday night at Hillview Village in an initial brain-storming session on how to approach the referendum going forward. The referendum in June fell 4.4% short of the required 60%-plus 1 needed for approval with 1,517 registered voters in the district supporting the measure.

Nick Hanson, business development leader from DLR Group, the firm retained to help plan and design the new building, unveiled some eye-popping numbers from the previous attempt. He said the turnout for the last election had more yes votes than those that voted in total in the December effort. So the effort to get more people to the polls was successful.

“Within the district, we have 2,300 parents and, of those, 1,500 are registered to vote. So 66% are registered which, really isn’t too bad,” Hanson said. “However, of the registered voters in the district only 28% of our parents voted in that election. That’s the problem right there. Now, I don’t know how they voted, but only 423 of those registered voters, voted in that June election."

To the Editor:
The City of Fort Madison elections this fall are vitally important to the continued growth of our great city. Over the past few years, we have seen the formation of a very capable team of players whose sole interest is in making Fort Madison a better place to live and work. From our City Manager on down, we have a staff of public safety, public works, and management employees that are doing an amazing job of keeping Fort Madison moving forward. Our city government has provided the leadership for an impressive list of accomplishments, all while staying within a very demanding budget. None of this could have happened without the outstanding leadership of our Mayor, Brad Randolph. That is why it is vitally important that we retain the experienced leadership of our Mayor, Brad Randolph, in the city elections this November.

Please join me in voting to re-elect Brad Randolph as Mayor of Fort Madison.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO MY CONSTITUENTS FROM YOUR 2ND WARD COUNCILMAN BRIAN WRIGHT

As your councilman and representative since 2011, I say thank you. Thank you for trusting in me and supporting me as your voice for 2nd ward. The trust and support shown me in successful election and re-election, has shown your confidence and shared vision for 2nd ward and the city as a whole. We have shared a common goal of being progressive and having a vision of enhanced quality of life and development throughout the ward and city during the last four years. Our council created a comprehensive plan for the city, to bring about the needed change in infrastructure and roads, quality of life enhancements, and other related projects that will move our city forward and remain a viable and sustainable community for future years. This plan has allowed our council and city personnel to implement and complete planned projects in a timely and effective manner, as to be able to provide the best quality of services and amenities to the public. We have seen this in 2nd ward and will continue to see the plan in action for the future. We as a council have heard your voice and have taken action to move the city forward and progress, bringing about positive change and growth in all areas of community.

In 2nd ward, much has been done and much is planned the next four years throughout the ward and city as a whole. Public Works has been able to asphalt overlay the following: Denmark Road, Denmark Hilltop, alley between Avenue C & D between 13th & 14th streets, Avenue B from 12th to 14th streets and the side streets of 12th, 13th, & 14th. The city has also redone 15th street from Avenue M to Avenue L, along with new intersections throughout 2nd ward. Reconstruction of the 1300 & 1400 blocks of Avenue F and 15th street hill were completed in 2017. New infrastructure has been placed and alleys have been graded or asphalt overlay has been done, with a regular and annual alley maintenance program implemented to improve and maintain the quality of alleys. Also for the first time ever, all streets have been crack-sealed.

Happenings in the city have been many as well. The city has been able to provide quality of life enhancers like the P.O.R.T. trail system, upgrades to city parks with new playground equipment, upgrades to rodeo park, new trails and restored trails throughout rodeo park, investment in the building of Baxter Sportplex, and more has been able to offer citizens options for health and entertainment.

Economic development is important to job creation and stability of economy. For this reason, the city has invested in expansion of infrastructure to Silgan Containers and the west end, provided incentives for the Gregory Manufacturing expansion to increase production and hiring, and worked with economic development and other partners to bring about plans to relocate industry to Fort Madison. We have already seen this with the revitalization of 18th & Avenue H with the placement of Fareway grocery store as another option for citizens and jobs in the community.

I love history and the city has much history to offer its citizens and tourists from around the region and country. The city has invested time and resources, along with monies into enhancing and improving our historical attractions. We have allocated monies to improve security at the Old Fort and also repair structures at the Old Fort. Marketing and tourism efforts have been increased and implemented at the direction of the marketing director. The marketing director has been working with regional and national tour companies, placing brochures in hotel brochure racks and travel magazines, partnering with other communities like Nauvoo and other Southeast Iowa communities to bring people from around the area to our attractions, and developing items for increased revenue into our community’s histori-cal landmarks and attractions. As part of tourism and economic development, I am in favor of relocating the train depot to the newly renovated historical train depot along the riverfront. This relocation is needed, as the current location is no longer be viable and will serve the purpose of safe and convenient on/off of passengers and families.

In closing, I have heard you as your councilman since 2011 and will continue to work for projects to be completed in 2nd ward. If re-elected, my first priority is to improve Avenue F from 2nd to 22nd with emphasis placed on the 900 to 1500 blocks of Avenue F, as I feel these blocks are in most need of repair and replacement. Second, I will continue to approve and improve the infrastructure that is needed in 2nd ward and surrounding. Fire and police protection is always paramount, and will continue to be top of mind as well. The city has already been working with and helping form neighborhood watch groups to be of assistance to the police. Another part of enhancing the ability to thwart crime and other related activities is to continue the program of demolishing dilapidated structures and cleaning up nuisance properties throughout 2nd ward and the city. These are my priorities and goals for bringing about positive change and moving the city in a direction that enhances the lives of all its citizens.

Yard signs don’t win elections, RESULTS WIN ELEC-TIONS! 1, along with the city council, have produced positive results for 2nd ward and the community. I ask you to re-elect me as your voice of positive change and continued progression to a future that is vibrant and sustained for the community as a whole. For more information and video, please visit fortmadison-ia.com for the candidate archived video under city council live broadcast in your web browser. You can also listen to my interview with Tri-States Public Radio at tsp.org by clicking on the election 2017 button halfway down the page and click my photo. Again, thank you for allowing me the honor to serve as your voice and representative and look forward to the honor and privilege to do so another four years.

Nobel Prize paintings will be offered at show

event, but changed it to a public showing to create a chance to speak with more individuals about her work and its inspirations.

Houel, who’s been in the United States for just over two years, is of French-Tunisian decent and still carries the European accent which just adds a little moreumph to her work.

The God’s Feet series is a group of 14 paintings and sculptures incorporating shoes and its representation of individual paths.

But the hallmark of the showing will be 12 portraits featuring Nobel Peace Prize winners. The canvas oil paintings are 4’ x 4’ and jump off the board with oils that hold emotion and power and capture the personality of the bestowed winners.

Other portraits in the project series include Mikhail Gorbachev with the Berlin Wall in the background with the blood hammer breaking through the wall and sickle and star. A Mandela with a triumphant hand in front of dirt streets; a deep-in-thought profile of President Barack Obama with a face heavy of concern; and a troubled Elie Wiesel, a world leading spokesman on the Holocaust, depicted on a pile of books with a weary hand to the head frontal by a skull.

“Her passion and desire gather with her subjects’ and it translates beautifully onto the canvas, leaving the viewer with a sense of what these personalities envisioned for us all,” wrote Tammy McCoy in a brochure outlining the Nobel Peace Prize Project. McCoy is the executive director of Burlington’s Art Center.

Houel has incorporated emotion into the Nobel prize winners, who fell victim to assassination, by allowing the paint to run down in areas of the art to depict the sadness and tragedy associated with the loss of each winner.

“It’s a work of twenty years,” Houel said. “But it’s been in production since I got this space two years ago in December. There are, like, 140 winners so it’s like 10 years of work. I lot is Martin Luther King Jr and it was too small at 3 x 3, so I went to 4x4. I have actually completed 13, I had Mahatma Ghandi and I thought for sure he had won a Peace Prize, but he did not. But I have Nelson Mandela and Mother Theresa and others. It’s in me and my mission is to speak about love and peace.”

Houel said the studio is a working studio but Saturday will serve as a working studio gallery.

“This is still a studio, it’s looking like a gallery right now but it’s a working space,” she said. “I’m up to number 14 of The God’s feet. It takes me a month to a month-and-a-half to do one. Everything is homemade on Belgium linen canvas. It’s really the first time I’ve opened publicly this space. Everything is for sale. It’s original art and I’m very proud of it.”

A percentage of all arts sales of the project will be donated to charities related to each laureate. For more information on Houel’s work visit www.cecile-houel.com.
