Inmate sent to UIHC for medical treatment after attack

BY PCC STAFF

FORT MADISON – According to a statement released Thursday night by the Iowa State Penitentiary, the prison is currently on restricted movement following an assault on an officer this afternoon.

The statement, released by Curt Overton of the Iowa Dept. of Corrections, indicated a staff member was assaulted by an inmate at the Iowa State Penitentiary in Fort Madison at approximately 2:45 p.m. Thursday afternoon.

The staff member, a correctional officer, was conducting a search of an inmate’s cell when the inmate attempted to strike the officer with closed fists. The officer that was attacked, as well as another officer that was in the area, quickly took control of the situation.

The staff member was assessed by institution medical professionals for scratches and bruises that occurred from the incident. He returned to his post after his medical evaluation.

The inmate that attacked the staff member was transported to University of Iowa Hospital and Clinics (UIHC) for medical treatment.

Hy-Vee pumps Crime Stoppers funds

Fort Madison resident Gary Pilkington gets a “chili” reception from Fort Madison Police and Lee County Sheriff’s deputies and reserves as part of Hy-Vee’s annual Chili fundraiser for the Lee County Crime Stoppers. The event was held at both Keokuk and Fort Madison Hy-Vees as a contest to see which store could raise the most money.

BY AVA PEITZ

FORT MADISON - With the below-freezing weather lately, Fort Madison Hy-Vee was the place to be Thursday while the Crime Stoppers held their annual chili fundraiser.

From 5 p.m. - 7 p.m., the Lee County Crime Stoppers held their second annual chili fundraiser at the grocery in both Fort Madison and Keokuk. The proceeds from the fundraiser are used for expenses and criminal payouts as a way to reward citizens who communicate criminal activity through Crime Stoppers.

Information communicated through the group must lead to an arrest and conviction before Crime Stoppers issues a payment.

“The minimum award the local group pays out is $100, but rewards can be up to $1,000 for higher profile crime reporting.

Both deputies from the Lee County Sheriff’s office and Fort Madison police officers and reserves were present at the event to serve and seat customers.

A committee oversees the fundraiser operations, which is headed Bryor McMillen.

“We don’t really have a goal (of money to raise), just anything that the community is willing to give is welcome,” McMillen said.

He encouraged local residents to keep an eye out for his chili challenge.

Thanks always to such a talented crew of regional art educators: Mrs. Kathy Price, Mrs. Diane Mitch- ell, and Mrs. Amy Hellige for Ft. Madison public schools; Mrs. Ann Canida and Mrs. Jaime Jones for Central Lee; and Mrs. Lois de Prima and Mr. Steve Rung at Holy Trinity.

A special mention of recognition is certain- ly due to Lois, as she is leaving her role with Holy Trinity (which she began leaving her role with Holy Trinity after retiring from Ft. Madison!).

Many, many years ago in the mighty C.R.8q depot, Lois stopped by to see me to pitch the im- portance of a K-8 level art show at the gallery to re- present developing creators in the school system.

Was so happy to have taken her advice as this annual (except when actual hanging the show) has been a consistent sta- ple in the FMAAA menu of cultural achievement. It seems to improve year after year.

Be sure to see how Lois and her team, sister Lina Hardy, for September Feature Exhibit in 2018. See how these talented Twins activate to form a myriad of mediums at FMAAA.
