Ita takes Connection post in Burlington

BY PCC STAFF

BURLINGTON – Connection Bank proudly announces Brock Ita has joined the team as Burlington Market President. The bank along with its affiliate, Connection Insurance, is in the process of building a new storefront on the corner of Roosevelt and Market Streets in Burlington with an anticipated opening in May.

Ita, born and raised in Danville, attended the University of Iowa and Wartburg College. He received his Master’s Degree in Sport Administration from the University of Louisville. While at the University of Louisville, Ita worked in corporate sales and marketing for Churchill Downs, the world famous horse racing track and home of “The Kentucky Derby.” Upon graduation, Ita moved to Las Vegas, NV, again working in sales and marketing this time with the Las Vegas Motor Speedway. He returned to Southeast Iowa five years ago where he began his career in banking. Ita says of his new opportunity, “I am really excited about starting a new chapter in my banking career at Connection Bank. I recently heard a great definition for the word “culture”. It was simply defined as, ‘the way we do things around here’. Connection

Kearns won’t seek re-election this year

Rep. says 10 years is long enough, time for others to serve

DES MOINES - State Representative Jerry Kearns has indicated via Facebook and through media releases that he will not be seeking re-election to House District 83 in the November 2018 general election.

When contacted Wednesday night, Kearns said he had heard of people in the district who were interested in running for the seat. “I’ve heard a couple three names, but they haven’t declared yet, so I’m not comfortable giving those out yet,” he said.

Kearns of Keokuk has represented the 83rd district for 10 years and said it’s time to step aside and let others lead. “I am completing my tenth year in the House, and that is a reasonably long tenure for a citizen legislator,” he said. “I retired from my regular job last year and while I enjoy serving in the Legislature, I believe now is the time to step aside and make room for others to serve.”

Kearns’ previous public service included eighteen years as a Lee County Supervisor and four years in the United States Air Force. “I have always been pleased to serve the public in whatever capacity I was involved, and appreciate the confidence placed in me in representing the citizens of Lee County in all these areas. I encourage those who might be interested in public service in the legislature to step forward in order that the citizens of District #83 may consider your candidacy,” he wrote on Facebook Wednesday afternoon.

“When again, I want to thank everyone for allowing me to represent you over the years.”

DONELSON - Confine site manure applicators should plan to attend a two-hour workshop offered by Iowa State University Extension and Outreach and the Iowa Department of Natural Resources to maintain or renew their confinement site manure applicator certification.

The Lee County workshop will be offered on Friday, 8th, 2018 at 1:30 PM at Lee County Extension, 414 N Main Street, Donnellson, Iowa.

“Iowa law requires confinement site manure applicators to attend two hours of continuing education each year of their three-year certification period, or take and pass the exam once every three years,” said Dan Anderson, assistant professor, ISU Ag and Biosystems Engineering and coordinator of the manure applicator certification program. “If applicators fail to attend the two hours of continuing education each year, they will be required to pass a written exam to be eligible to recertify.” Each year nearly 200 confinement site applicators fail to attend training and must pass the remedial exam prior to being eligible to renew their certification for the following year.

The workshop serves as initial certification for those applicators that are not currently certified, recertification for those renewing licenses and as continuing education for those their second or third year of their license. The 2018 Confine Site program will include rules for applicators as well as landapplication and setback distance requirements, water quality and applying manure into cover crops, and application equipment uniformity.

Operators must be certified to handle, transport, and apply manure if the confinement livestock operation has more than a 500 animal unit capacity unless the manure is applied by a commercial manure applicator. The certification fee is $100 for a three-year certificate. This fee is paid when applicants initially get certified and then every three years when they re-certify to apply manure.

Confine site applicators are also required to pay an annual education fee of $25. All fees and application forms must be sent to the Iowa Department of Natural Resources to complete certification requirements. ISU Extension and Outreach will charge a $10 fee to applicators choosing to view the certification materials on a non-scheduled reshow day at the county office. For this reason, all applicants are encouraged to attend the workshops or to plan to view training materials on the scheduled reshow date at local county extension office. This fee will not apply to workshops or scheduled reshow dates. Please contact the county extension office to determine which days are scheduled for the manure applicator certification programs.

Applicants have another option for certification; online certification, which an applicant can take their training on-line at DNR MAC e-learning site at https://elearning-dnr.iowa.gov/. The applicant will need to sign in and get an A&A account. Applicants are encouraged to complete certification requirements annually prior to March 1 to meet certification deadlines and avoid being assessed a $12.50 late fee for re-certification.

For more information about meeting dates and locations, or to schedule an appointment to attend training, contact the ISU Extension and Outreach Lee County office at 319-835-5116 or visit http://www.agronet.iastate.edu/immag/certification/confinementsitebrochure.pdf to see the 2018 workshop schedule.
