Author revs up reading at city’s elementary schools

FORT MADISON - Children’s author Jill Esbaum gets the students at Richardson Elementary involved in a discussion on book subjects and what makes a great book Monday at the school.

Blue Grass author has published more than 30 children’s books

FORT MADISON - Children’s author Jill Esbaum is in town talking with Fort Madison elementary students about lonely Bigfoots and cows that jump off cliffs.

The Iowa native visited with Richardson Elementary students for most of the day on Monday before a book signing at the Fort Madison High School Monday evening. On Tuesday, Esbaum is scheduled to visit with Lincoln Elementary students.

She said her message is aimed at energizing the kids’ appetite for knowledge through reading, as well as showing them they can accomplish anything they want.

"I want to engage them. I want them to know that they can grow up in small town in Iowa and do whatever they want," Esbaum said prior to meeting with the Richardson second-grade classes.

Esbaum grew up in Blue Grass between Davenport and Muscatine and has published more than 32 children’s books.

She said the publishing businesses is getting tough. She has an agent who handles her books and said agents are still accepting unsolicited manuscripts because they are still looking for the next great thing but it’s getting tougher and tougher to get published.

Esbaum showed the kids a slide show that featured her fictional books such as “I am cow, hear me MOOOOOO!” about a cow who overcomes her fear of the woods only to be scared at night when she gets separated from the herd. And “Teeny Tiny Toady”.

FMAAA’s Expressions Art Auction Saturday

BY BRIAN RIGGS
Fort Madison Area Arts Association

FORT MADISON - Expressions Art Auction is the annual fundraiser for the Ft. Madison Area Arts Association this Saturday at Comfort Inn & Suites in Ft. Madison. It is the main revenue piston of the engine called FMAAA that chugs out consistent programs and events for the Tri-State area on a regular basis.

Tickets are available at FMAAA Gallery, The Lost Duck Brewery, FMAAA Board Members, or available night of the event. Wine tasting begins at 7:30 p.m. with live auction beginning at 7:30 p.m.. The art, travel, and enrichment experiences available are quite attractive.

See the entire art auction brochure at www.fmaaa.com by linking the brochure on the face page. This is the FMAAA’s long awaited new website. It’s still in rough editing stages on some of the pages but launched last week.

FM Main Street rolls out quilts, contest in April

Take selfies with some of FM historical pieces downtown

FORT MADISON - Join Fort Madison Main Street for the Quilt Walk April 2nd through April 30th in Downtown Fort Madison. Visitors can view these beautiful works of art and learn the history behind their creation while these quilts are on display in more than 30 downtown businesses.

Main Street Director Cassie Gilbert said visitors to downtown this week should be picking up a punch card from Fort Madison Main Street or participating businesses. When you are finished visiting participating shops, submit the punch card to Fort Madison Main Street for a raffle drawing.

Throughout month of April, Main Street will also be celebrating its historic downtown with an online promotion.

Each week starting April 2nd, Fort Madison Main Street will be posting a photo on their Facebook page of a historic piece in one of our downtown businesses. Participants will have to figure out the location, and take their own photo with the historic piece in the background. Participants will then have to post the photo on Main Street’s Facebook page to be entered into a drawing. Each week’s contest will open on Monday at 10 am and close on Saturday at 6 pm. There will be a prize for each winner.

week so we had a vehicle for folks to peruse the line-up. The shop page on the site showcases the work of March feature artist at the gallery Jerry Granaman. This page will beef up to 20 items once we start working the new website system. FMAAA is looking to increase our reach!

More than 30 of this regions best artists have given excellent works to keep the FMAAA train on the tracks. Their generous donations towards our mission help make FMAAA what it is… ‘Always Moving’. If you cannot attend the event but wish to leave your bid on one of these beauties access an FMAAA Board Member: Angela Sodey, Teresa Dearing, Becky Carlisle, Mary Brockman, Coni Graber, Linda Marshall, Kathy McCracken, George&MaryAnn Gaudette, Jerry Granaman, Cindy Roberts, Dorothy Kramar, Kelly Peters, Mio Santiago, Dr. Tim Benson, Pam Perdue, and Anna and Gary Grinstein. Gin Lammert is the cover artist with her Best of Show win in the December 2017 Feature with “Just Keep Swimming”. That magnificent work will be on sale at the auction that evening. There is a bounty of art mediums showcased as always with several new artists giving to the cause to include old school letterpress, acrylic pour, and glass galore. The travel packages and enrichment experiences are fantabulous with a Pontoon Boat Party for 12, trip to the heart of New York City, Catering for 20 from Ivy Bake Shoppe, and VIP treatment during Parade of Lights just to name a few. Purchase a $10 raffle ticket for the “Pick Your Own” vacation…seven nights at an Interval International Resort, over 2,900 locations in 75 different locations! Winner will talk with Christmas for Kids Chair, Linda Marshall, as she aids you in selecting and booking your spot with her gift.

No matter what your flavor, Expressions Art Auction has it on the menu that night. Silent auction items favorites such as VIP Tri-State Rodeo tickets and Rayan Cajun Party are back as well as offerings from Swed Coffee/Fox Theatre, Velocity Dance & Tumbling, BCK Jewelry, and Artisans Next Door. Enjoy a fun evening of wine tasting, delectable hors d’ouvers, and the camaraderie of the best regional artists in the area at 2018 Expressions Art Auction at Comfort in on March 24th while ensuring that FMAAA continues to do what it does…keeping the cultural arts on tap in your neck of the woods. Dilly, dilly.

week's winner. Winners will be released on Monday at 9:00 am. “Main Street will release a photo or two on Monday starting April 2 and people will have until Saturday at 6 p.m. to post their pictures on our Facebook page,” Gilbert said. “The reason we're doing this is we want to promote not only the downtown businesses, but the historical value it has. There are a lot of historical aspects to downtown Fort Madison.” The snapshots Main Street will be uploading will be defined by the downtown district from Sixth Street to 10th Street on avenues G and H. Gilbert said the district is also getting a head start for the National Trust for Historic Preservation’s National Preservation Month in May. The prizes will be gift cards to local businesses in the district some valued up to $50.

“It’s more like a come down and enjoy yourself and see what we have to offer in downtown including the Quilt Walk, while having a little fun looking for historical elements and taking some selfies,” Gilbert said.

For questions or if you are interested in having your quilt displayed in a downtown business during the event, please contact Cassie Gilbert by calling Fort Madison Main Street at 319-372-5471 or by email at cgriffen@fortmadison.com. Information can also be found on Facebook at “Fort Madison Main Street” or on the Fort Madison Partners website, www.fortmadison.com.

KEOKUK - The Lee County Narcotics Task Force reports the arrest of a burglary, Iowa man on felony drug charges.

Nicholas Ryan Queen, 39, of Burlington was arrested on March 18th, 2018 at 1012 Fulton Street in Keokuk on felony drug charges. Queen is charged with three counts of delivery of methamphetamine less than five grams, second or subsequent offense, a class C felony with enhancements. If convicted, Queen faces up to 90 years in a state correctional facility.

The arrest of Queen stems from an investigation by the Lee County Narcotics Task Force into allegations that he was involved in the distribution of illegal narcotics in the Lee County area. The Lee County Attorney’s Office, Fort Madison Police Department, Iowa Division of Narcotics Enforcement, Lee County Sheriff’s Department, Keokuk Police Department, and the 8th Judicial District of Probation and Parole assisted the Lee County Narcotics Task Force in this investigation.

The defendant is presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty.

The Lee County Narcotics Task Force is funded in part by the U.S. Department of Justice and the funds administered by the Iowa Governor’s Office of Drug Control Policy.

Gov. heralds passage of Future Iowa act

DES MOINES - The Iowa Senate approved the “Future Ready Iowa Act” on Monday in a unanimous vote of 47-0, sending the legislation to Gov. Kim Reynolds’ desk for signature.

Future Ready Iowa is the governor’s plan to train Iowans for the jobs of today and tomorrow. The goal of Future Ready Iowa is for 70 percent of Iowa workers to have education or training beyond high school by the year 2025.

“This is an exciting day for Iowans,” Gov. Reynolds said. “Our state is ahead of the curve for educating our children for the knowledge economy, and this piece of legislation will only strengthen the efforts already underway.”

“Future Ready Iowa is my number one priority because it gives Iowans the opportunity to learn a high-demand skill and then not only get a job to pay the bills, but also rewarding careers,” she continued. “That’s life-changing.”

“This act creates opportunities for Iowans of all ages and experiences,” the governor concluded. “It will have a real impact on real Iowans, and I’m grateful to the Iowa Senate for recognizing that in this vote.”

An announcement on a signing for the “Future Ready Iowa Act” will come at a later date.

Argyle woman injured in Sunday ATV accident

ARGYLE - An argyle woman was airlifted to Iowa City Hospitals Sunday evening as a result of an ATV accident.

According to the Lee County Sheriff’s department, 35-year-old Jana Kirchner was involved in the 4-wheeler accident. Emergency crews were called to the 1800 block of 285th Street just after 7 p.m. Sunday where Kirchner was found unresponsive, but breathing.

She was taken by AirEvac from the scene and transported to University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics.

KAREN KAY BONTA

Karen Kay Bonta, 71, of rural Fort Madison, IA, passed away unexpectedly on Tuesday, March 13, 2017 in Arizona, the result of a car accident while enjoying a morning walk with her husband, Bob. She was born on October 19, 1946 in Keokuk, IA to Carroll & Leona Meeker Bruder and was raised by Carroll & Helen Leona Bruder.

Karen graduated from Morris IL community high school in 1964 then attended Culver Stockton College where she acquired a degree in business education. Karen joined the Chi Omega sorority during her time at college and met the love of her life, Robert (Bob) Lee Bonta. Karen and Bob were wed on July 29, 1967 in Morris, IL while both were attending graduate school at Western Illinois University. With her graduate degree as an education counselor, Karen began her career teaching business in Dallas City, Illinois. Karen retired as a guidance counselor at Fort Madison High School and Fort Madison Junior High. After retirement, Karen enjoyed playing the piano at the First Christian Church, study club, being a member of the Red Hat Society, and was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR). Karen and Bob enjoyed traveling the globe with their close friends and family. In addition to spending the last several winters in Fountain Hills, Arizona, they had visited Africa, China, South America, Antarctica, Australia, Egypt, Alaska, Europe, Caribbean and Mexico.

Karen's priority was being a great wife, mother, grandmother, sister, aunt and friend. Family and friends looked forward to her ham balls, chocolate chip cookies, and apple dumplings. She was an avid lover of jewelry and "cute things." One of her favorite things to do was sharing her immense knowledge of jewelry with her grandchildren.

Karen and Bob traveled extensively to attend their grandchildren's activities including sporting events, musical performances, and stage plays. Karen would light up a room within minutes of entering with her positivity and generosity of spirit.

Karen is survived by her mother, Helen Bruder of St. Paul MN and her siblings Kent McCormick (Holde) of Germany, John (Lynn) Bruder of St. Paul MN, and Barb (Roger) Rogotzke of Sleepy Eye MN. She is also survived by her three children, Grant (Amy) Bonta, Barb (Jeff) Snyder, and Amy (Nic) Ferin. She is also survived by 10 grandchildren; Carter, Chandler, and Camden, children of Grant and Amy; Harrison, Alexa, and Ainsley, children of Barb and Jeff; Olivia, Madisen, Dexter, and Stella, children of Amy and Nic. Karen is preceded in death by her mother Leona Meeker Bruder, and her father Carroll Bruder.

Friends may call after 3:00 p.m. on Friday, March 23, 2018 with the family to receive friends from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. on Friday evening at the First Christian Church, 608 10th Street, Fort Madison, IA 52627. The funeral service will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, March 24, 2018 at the First Christian Church with Rev. John Simpson officiating. Burial will be held at Clappeoole Cemetery in rural Wever, IA. A memorial has been established in Karen's memory. Online condolences and a video tribute of Bob & Karen's lives may be viewed at the King-Lynk Funeral Home website: www.kinglynk.com.

Bob is survived by his three children, Grant (Amy) Bonta of Belleville IL, Barb (Jeff) Snyder of Manchester MO, and Amy (Nic) Ferin of Marion IA. He is also survived by 10 grandchildren; Carter, Chandler, and Camden, children of Grant and Amy; Harrison, Alexa, and Ainsley, children of Barb and Jeff; Olivia, Madisen, Dexter, and Stella, children of Amy and Nic. He was preceded in death by his parents, Robert G. and Leola Bonta.

ROBERT LEE BONTA

Robert Lee Bonta, 72, of rural Fort Madison, IA, passed away unexpectedly on Tuesday, March 13, 2018 in Arizona, the result of a car accident while enjoying a morning walk with his wife, Karen. He was born on April 11, 1945 in Quincy, IL to Robert G. & Jessie L. Snodgrass Bonta. Robert attended Culver Stockton College where he acquired a degree in education, joined the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity and met the love of his life, Karen Kay Bruder. Robert and Karen were wed on July 30, 1967 in Morris, IL while both were attending graduate school at Western Illinois University. With his graduate degree in counseling education, Robert began his career as an elementary teacher in Lomax, Illinois. Robert (Bob) retired as the Education Administrator for the Great River AEA in Burlington.

After retirement, Bob was passionate about community programs, the First Christian Church, and being active with the Fort Madison Community Hospital. He was a member of the Fort Madison Lions Club and enjoyed being a Senior Health Insurance Information Program (SHIIP) counselor. He also enjoyed gathering for breakfast with friends for discussion and bragging about his grandkids.

Bob and Karen enjoyed traveling the globe with their close friends and family. In addition to spending the last several winters in Fountain Hills, Arizona, they had visited Africa, China, South America, Antarctica, Australia, Egypt, Alaska, Europe, Canada, the Caribbean and Mexico.

Mostly, Bob enjoyed spending time with his family. Bob's priority was being a great husband, father, grandfather, brother-in-law, uncle and friend. His children and grandchildren looked forward to his waffles, convertible rides and spending time discussing his travels and history.

From the Front

Esbaum triggers students inquisitive nature

about a young toad who has to figure out how to get his mother out of a bucket.

She told the students that writing has to be entertaining and each main character has to confront a problem, because stories about a normal day where everything goes according to plan is a boring read.

But she also has done non-fiction writing including several series for National Geographic Kids. Esbaum told the second graders she doesn’t write to tell the obvious.

“Why don’t I want to write that giraffe’s have long necks,” Esbaum quizzed the second graders. After about four answers, one insightful second grader said, “We already know that.” “You already know that?” Esbaum said. “But what if I told you kangaroos can’t walk backwards or a walrus can hold their breath and actually sleep under water?”

She said writing about the lesser known facts gives children the “Whoa...I didn’t know that” reaction and piques their interest in reading more about the subject.

Debbie Moeller, a reading teacher at Richardson, said students are coming to the school with a higher skill set than a decade ago. And it’s starting earlier with technology, but it still takes the interaction of young children with influences that read to them to give them the head start they need.

“Sitting on your parents’ or grandparents’ laps and reading that book, is what generates the real interest in reading at a young age,” Moeller said. “It just depends, there are a lot of opportunities and if parents send them to preschool or take advantage of the online things, those kids are advanced, but not everyone has access to those things now. You have kids coming into kindergarten that can read second grade books who had exposure to that technology. But the other kids can catch up because they get that technology at school. Generally, the gap closes very quickly.”

Esbaum then it comes to the issue of comprehension and, if the students are excited about what they are reading, the comprehension comes quicker. She also said she has greater comprehension with a paper book than the e-versions on tablets and computers.

“I just have a better comprehension if I have a book in my hand. When I read on a laptop or tablet, it just isn’t the same.”

Jill Esbaum, author of more than 30 books for children, both fiction and non-fiction, talks about why reading has been a part of her life since she was child growing up in eastern Iowa and how it became a part of her professional life.
