Box, seniors to lead HTC spikers

BY CHUCK VANDENBERG
PCC EDITOR

FORT MADISON - They say it's good to think outside the box, but Holy Trinity Catholic will keep the Box right where it is thanks you very much. "Senior Emily Box is anchoring a core group of five seniors on this year's HTC volleyball team that already has its sights set on a return trip to Cedar Rapids and the state tournament."

The Crusaders start the season as the No. 4 ranked squad in Class 1A behind perennial nemesis Janesville, as well as Le Mars Gehlen Catholic and Stormont, a team HTC bounced from the tournament from the quarterfinals last season.

"The big goal for them is to meet Janesville in the championship game. That's the elephant in the room and they want the opportunity to do that, but they know they need to do the work here to get there," said Melissa Freesmeier, who's entering her 26th year as a head coach. "We have to take care of business in order to get to that level, but that's where ultimate goal." The Wildcats sent HTC home in the semifinals last year in three straight sets 25-17, 25-20, 25-19. Box, who was first-team all-state in Class 1A last year and led all classes in the state with 663 kills as a senior, took last year's loss to Janesville hard, and has been putting in the hours to secure a return trip. "Box is Box. She's a stud," Freesmeier quipped of the 5’-11” hitter. "As a whole, this senior class hates to lose, and Box wears that on her sleeve. She's worked hard this summer. She played for an Iowa High Performance Team in Tulsa, Oklahoma and got to work with kids of her talent level. She's built herself as a player, and emotionally she's getting stronger. She's going to be the glue to this team. We've got a good senior nucleus, but she's going to carry us and I think she's ready for that." Freesmeier said she'll run with five seniors, two sophomores and freshman in a 6-2 set. The other four seniors who'll see the majority of the playing time include Eryn Anderson, Mya Lawlor, Elyse Pothitakis and Taylor Boeding. Boeding injured her ankle in a knee injury sidelined her for most of the season last year prior to the postseason.

Freesmeier said Lawlor will move to an outside hitter this year and Elyse Pothitakis will handle the back row. "As a whole, this senior class hates to lose, and Box wears that on her sleeve...She's going to be the glue to this team." -Melissa Freesmeier, HTC head coach

The Holy Trinity Catholic girls volleyball will be looking to return to the state volleyball tournament this year after falling in the semifinals last year. Five seniors, including First-Team All Stater Emily Box, return.

FORT MADISON - Superheros will be descending on Richmond Stadium on Sept. 14, for the six hour 21st annual North Lee County Relay for Life. Agents of Hope is this year's theme for the relay, which will take place from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the Fort Madison High School track at Richmond Stadium.

Relay Chair Angie Budnik said this year's goal is to raise $65,000 and have 25 teams. Right now 16 teams have registered, but Budnik said there is still plenty of time to get a team signed up for the event. "Those interested in forming a team can do so by visiting the event website at http://www RelayFortLife.org/NorthLeeCountIA and clicking on 'Join a Relay' and then select North Lee County Relay For Life."

The event is a community event, and Budnik said you don't have to be on a team to participate. "You don't have to be part of a team, you don't have to come and set up a site on the field to participate," she said. "We just encourage people to come out and have some dinner and walk a couple laps. We just want to have people come out and spend some time with us and celebrate our survivors." The Isaac Walton League of Fort Madison will be providing BBQ pulled pork sandwiches on site from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. And pizza from Brad's Pad and Pizza Garden in West Point and Casey's in Fort Madison will be being delivered at around 10 p.m. Kelly's Cakes and Hall's Ice Cream will be providing desserts.

Budnik said a couple of the more notable events at the Relay is the luminaria and survivor receptions. Luminaries can be purchased by filling out the form below in memory and support of someone who has battled cancer. Individuals can also submit a photo to be a part of slide show presentation during libero duties and call defense, while Anderson will help anchor hitting and defense at the net.

But the setting duties are falling on younger Crusaders. Freesmeier has put freshman Kassi Randolph and sophomore Bailey Hellweg on the floor to take over for Maya Rashid, another first-team All-State performer from last year who was lost to graduation. Rashid was second in the state last year over all classes with 1,145 assists, and in assists per set at 10.6.

"Kassi’s been working hard all summer and following in big sister Ali’s footsteps," Freesmeier said. "We watched her come up as an 8th grader and knew she had the hands. She just needed to get varsity quickness, which happened over club season, and she’s caught on nicely. Other underclassman that will see plenty of action include Katie Denning, Bailey Helweg and Claire Pothitakis, all sophomores.

In addition to Rashid, the Crusaders also lost Madison Mohrfield who was always in the mix in the middle and Sam Hoening who led the team in serving last year.

"First of all, you lose that leadership. Maya’s been our setter for three years. That’s going to be a huge loss for us. Madison was there for us hitting and Sam serving. We think that Claire Pothitakis and Katie Denning will step in nicely and help fill those roles," Freesmeier said.

"Now we have two young setters in Kassi and Bailey. You take two young kids and put them in that spot as a setter and that’s going to be a challenge for us. Katie and Claire will help elevate our play up front."

Freesmeier said Fort Madison, Mediapolis, New London and West Burlington will be very competitive during the season locally.

"West Burlington is a team to be reckoned with. (Sophomore Sydney) Marlow is very good and she can jump. I think we can get her to struggle with that big block, but they’re ranked 15th in Class 3A this year. Fort Madison is ranked and New London’s always good. So there is some good volleyball again in southeast Iowa.

The Crusaders kick off play Thursday with a trip to Danville with play beginning at 5:30 p.m.
We’ll be happy to help you polish up your smile so you can share it with the world.

The 2018 North Lee County Relay for Life is just around the corner on Friday, Sept. 14. The event will take place from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the Fort Madison High School track on Richmond Stadium.

The Survivor’s Reception is open to any cancer survivors. “We hold that every year and it’s a big piece of this,” Budnik said. “We send out invitations to the cancer survivors on our mailing list, but any cancer survivor is welcome to attend. This is just a great opportunity to recognize and celebrate them.”

The North Lee County Relay was actually started by the Fort Madison High School students in 1998 when the relays were just getting going. Budnik said that’s why the Fort Madison relay is held in the fall. “When these relays started becoming a thing, the high school student body took it under their wing,” Budnik said. “That’s why when most people are doing their relays in the summer, we do ours in the fall.”

The North Lee County Relay is separate from the South Lee County event and all money’s go directly to the American Cancer Society.

Budnik said she hopes to see people in superhero costumes because everyone that comes out is considered a hero. “We always have one team that dresses up so this will be fun,” she said.

For those walking the track at anytime during the evening, their will be raffle baskets with some of the teams, games, and a 50/50 raffle which Budnik said is already up to $1,134. “This summer we had a Roving Rally to generate funds for the 50/50 so whoever wins that will get a nice chunk of cash. We’ll continue to sell tickets to that drawing that night and we’ve asked the teams to try and put together a donation basket so people will be able to buy raffle tickets at the registration table for those prizes as well. We’ll draw for the winners of those prizes and the 50/50 during the closing ceremony,” Budnik said.

She said North Lee County Relay for Life is recognized for the overwhelming corporate support they get for each event. “One thing that makes our event unique is the corporate support we get,” she said. “Compared to other relays or representative says we kind of blow it out of the water from that standpoint.”
