FORT MADISON – This is your company’s next team-building exercise.

Fort Madison Partners is again taking on homes for an April Paint-A-Thon in Fort Madison. Executive Director Tim Gobble said volunteers are the key to making the program a success.

"Last year we had about 40 people volunteer and we were able to do some minor repairs, caulking, and painting to spruce up two homes in the city," he said. "Financing the program is all about the community."

The reaction of those homeowners was tear-filled, and they were very humbled by the efforts of everyone.

Gobble said he hopes to expand on the program this year and in years going forward. This year’s event will take place from April 22 through April 27.

Homes that are owned and occupied by residents over the age of 60, that are single story or small 1 1/2 story, in need of paint and located within the city limits qualify for the program. Homeowners must have limited income and be unable to afford commercial painting, but show a desire to maintain the appearance of the home will be considered. Homeowners are applying to have the exteriors of their homes scraped and painted.

Paint is being supplied this year by Kemper’s True Value & Rental Inc., who is again, the Premiere Sponsor of the Paint-A-Thon.

“We’re looking at doing a minimum of two more homes this year and we would like to add a third. It just depends on the amount of people we get to help again,” Gobble said other communities do Paint-A-Thon’s as well and the best format is to have teams working on each house throughout the week with a point person for each team.

“That we can have one point-of-contact for each team and scheduling and communication are much easier with that point of contact,” Gobble said.
