NAUVOO – A joint investigation has resulted in the arrest of a Nauvoo man on 54 charges including sexual assault of a child, child pornography, sexual abuse, and incest.

Nauvoo Police Chief Mike Boley released a statement Friday afternoon, saying Daniel Scott Lafferty, 33, of Nauvoo, was arrested Tuesday in Nauvoo after an investigation by the department, in conjunction with the Fort Madison Police Department and other Illinois, Iowa and Nevada law enforcement agencies.

Daniel Scott Lafferty, 33, of Nauvoo charged with 45 counts of criminal sexual activity in Fort Madison and Nauvoo. Lafferty's arrest comes as a result of an investigation into allegations of sexual assault of a child having occurred in Nauvoo. He is currently being held in the Hancock County Jail on a $400,000 bond out of Hancock County, as well as a no-bond warrant through Lee County.

Nauvoo police have charged Lafferty with one count of Predatory Criminal Sexual Assault of a Child, a Class X Felony; ten counts of Child Pornography, each a Class X Felony; 21 counts of Child Pornography, each a Class 2 Felony; two counts of Aggravated Criminal Sexual Abuse, each a Class 2 Felony; nine counts of Child Pornography, each a Class 3 Felony.

Also, as a result of the investigation by the Nauvoo Police Department, additional evidence was discovered in regard to additional crimes alleged to have occurred in Ft. Madison, Iowa. A subsequent investigation by Ft. Madison Police Department investigations resulted in a nationwide, no-bond warrant, through Lee County, Iowa, that Lafferty is also being held on. Those charges include five counts of 2nd Degree Sexual Abuse, each a Class B Felony; five counts of Incest, each a Class D Felony; and one count of Indecent Exposure.

The investigation is on-going and additional charges are expected.

Police Chief Mike Boley was unavailable for comment Friday as of this posting.

FORT MADISON – July celebrates with a reception for dueling artists Jamie Green and Larry Siwek, watercolor painters from Quincy, Illinois. The DoubleVision feature blasts away on July 5th with a rockets red glare from 5:00-7:00pm at FMAAA gallery 825 Avenue G. Always free and open to the public. Axalta Coating Systems is the sponsor for the exhibition.

Larry and Jamie became friends in 2013 when attending a life drawing session in Quincy, IL. Painting together bonded their friendship while the two began attending Plein Air Paint Outs. These outdoor paint competitions gave them opportunities to meet and paint alongside some very talented, professional artists.

At top, Larry Siwek’s interpretation of the same home as the watercolor below by Jamie Green. The two artists will be featured in a “Double Vision” exhibit in July at the Fort Madison Area Arts Association. The exhibit kicks off Friday from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the art center. Courtesy images from FMAAA. The idea for DoubleVision came to being a few years ago at FMAAA when Jamie was having a feature exhibition at the gallery. When hearing how these guys were traveling to differing states in an RV to compete for cash prizes, it dawned on this writer that there was a unique opportunity for a thematic show to be had.

As Jamie and Larry selected their dates and places for plein air events, they could begin collecting a show that had the same subject matter, yet with their individual style and personality ebb into each painting. Larry and Jamie made that idea into a reality quicker than expected. On top of that figured maybe 15 DoubleVision determined selected scenes. But no they come in with a monster show with 30 differing paintings with the DoubleVision standard. Consider it your patriotic duty to take in this feature! Jamie points out, “The show not only gives the viewer two different interpretations of each subject, you can witness the growth of two artists. If you look at the paintings, you may also get a glimpse of friends becoming brothers. As iron sharpens iron, so one many sharpens another. Proverbs 27:17.” Jamie studied art at Culver-Stockton College and is a founding member of Sandpiper Plein Air Resistance Painters.

Larry received his BA from Western Illinois University in art education. He also owned Gem City Sign Shop in Quincy for many years. These painters are talented and devoted documenters of image wherever they may roam. View their travels at FMAAA gallery 825 Avenue G. With new hours of Tuesday & Thursday 12-7 p.m. and Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Visit us anytime at our ever expanding website at www.fmaaa.com.

Hounds peaking as regular season winds down

FORT MADISON - Twenty-four games into the season and Fort Madison baseball is now at the .500 mark, sitting at 12-12 after coming away with both games of a doubleheader Monday night against Keokuk at Fort Madison High School.

The Bloodhounds had previously defeated Keokuk for both games of a doubleheader earlier in the season, making Monday’s twin bill a clean season sweep of the Chiefs for the Bloodhounds.

Different from the first time around was the scoring. After Fort Madison scored a combined 42 runs in the first two games against Keokuk, the Hounds scored 10 in the two combined Monday.

“It was good to get back on our home field after being on the road for a few weeks,” Fort Madison Head Coach Ron Walker said. “We had a nice crowd out here and came out and played a couple of nice clean ball games and picked up a couple Ws.”

GAME ONE

The first contest was a pitcher’s duel between Fort Madison’s Jace Burgher and Keokuk’s Ryan Johnson. The two both took shutouts into the third inning before the Bloodhounds opened up the scoring.

Reed Feheke was hit by a pitch with one out in the home-half of the third inning, before a Jason Thurman walk put two on. Brandon Reichelt came through with a two-out walk to load the bases, before Vasin Thurman walked to bring in Feheke for the first run.

Tate Johnson then came through with an infield single, hustling down the line and just making it on a bang-bang play for the 2-0 Fort Madison lead.

“We talk about hard 90s and (Johnson) took a hard 90 on that infield hit and drove in the second run of the game,” Walker said.

The Chiefs went three-up, three-down to end the top of the fourth inning before scoring their first runs in the fifth. Back-to-back fielding errors allowed two runners to reach safely with one out. Josh Wills then produced a sacrifice fly ball for what would be Keokuk’s lone run of the game.

An error and a walk put two runners on for Fort Madison in the bottom of the sixth inning. Fort Madison starting pitcher Burgher attempted a sacrifice bunt, but Johnson was ruled out advancing to home. In the fifth inning, Fort Madison had Kane Williams take off at first as soon after to work with Landes on second, “Fort Madison Head Coach Ron Walker said. “Kane did a great job of staying in the middle of the field and driving him in for the first out of the inning.”

The Bloodhounds responded with some small ball tactics in the home-half of the second. Jordryn Gerdes and Van Buren’s Ryan Wolf both did well in their starts from the mound, as each team was held scoreless through the first two innings Tuesday night.

The Warriors were the first to break the scoreless drought in the top of the third. Jonah Heckenberg was hit by a pitch with one out, before Jacob Flecker came through with a double to plate Heckenberg for the 1-0 lead. The Bloodhounds responded with some small ball tactics in the home-half of the second. Jordryn Gerdes delivered with a double to plate Feheke to make it a 3-0 advantage. A groundout ensued, before Vasin Thurman came through with a line drive up the middle to plate Gerdes and give the Hounds a 4-0 cushion.

An error and a Brandon Reichelt single scored Jason Thurman for run No. 5, before the Chiefs plated their first run of the second game.

Levi Boudweyn, Dalton Boeker and Keegan Burke each singled to begin the sixth. A Fort Madison error plate for Keokuk with no outs. Fortunately for the Bloodhounds, relief pitcher Jason Thurman recorded the next three outs in order, as Fort Madison went on to win 3-1.

Vasin Thurman and Tate Johnson had an RBI each for Fort Madison. Burgher picked up the win, going six innings on 72 pitches, allowing two hits and no earned runs while striking out three batters. Jason Thurman picked up the save allowing just one hit and striking out two.

GAME TWO

After Cordray held Keokuk to two-straight innings of three-up, three-down, Fort Madison collected the lead in the bottom of the second inning. Vasin Thurman started things off with a single, before advancing to second on an error and then moving to third. Thurman was then able to come in and score on a wild pitch during Cordray’s at bat, giving the Bloodhounds the 1-0 lead.

A three-up, three-down top of the third led to more Hound runs. The Bloodhounds started the bottom of the third with back-to-back walks. Kane Williams came in to score on a Jason Thurman groundout to make it 2-0. Jordryn Gerdes delivered with a double to plate Feheke to make it a 5-0 advantage. A groundout ensued, before Williams came to score on a Jordan Cordray groundout to make it 2-0. Jordan Cordray hit by a pitch with one out, before Jacob Flecker came through with a double to plate Heckenberg for the 1-0 lead.

The Bloodhounds responded with some small ball tactics in the home-half of the second. Jordryn Gerdes and Van Buren’s Ryan Wolf both did well in their starts from the mound, as each team was held scoreless through the first two innings Tuesday night.

FORT MADISON - It happened.

With both of the season now in the rearview mirror, Fort Madison's baseball team pushed one game over the .500 mark on the season, coming out with a 9-4 win against Van Buren at home Tuesday night. With the win, the Bloodhounds move to 13-12 on the year and have now won four straight games.

The last time Fort Madison recorded more than 10 wins in a season and went on a four-game win streak was in 2012-2013 when the Hounds posted a final record of 18-23. With five games left on the schedule, Fort Madison has an opportunity to finish with a winning record for the first time in over a decade.

Tommietts: “We have guys that take good at bats and they have a plan. We have a lot of confidence no matter where we are in our lineup,” Walker said. “He came out and was around the zone all night long, which is his ERA to 2.314 on the year.”

Williams and Gerdes singled to plate Williams and Fehseke for the 9-1 advantage. Cordray started the frame with a triple. Landes Williams walked, before Fehseke loaded the bases with a one-out walk of his own. Jason Thurman had a sacrifice to score Cordray and Gerdes singled to plate both Williams and Fehseke for the 9-1 advantage.

With an eight-run lead and only three outs remaining, Fort Madison survived a three-run top of the seventh from Van Buren to go on and win by the final of 9-4.

“Have we lost a lot of confidence no matter where we are in our lineup,” said Walker. “We have guys that take good at bats and they have a plan. As the Hounds went ahead 6-1, again it was the No. 7, 8 and 9 batters that came through for Fort Madison in the bottom of the fifth. Leading off the inning after the Hounds batted around in the fifth, Cordray started the frame with a triple. Landes Williams walked, before Fehseke loaded the bases with a one-out walk of his own.

The Hounds are now 12-12 on the year and will take on Van Buren back at home against Northwest.

Cordray pitched the complete game, scattering five hits over seven innings on 108 pitches and allowed no earned runs. Cordray recorded five punch outs and improved his ERA to 2.314 on the year.

“The thing we're starting to see now that we didn't see early in the year was coming through with two outs and not leaving base runners on. We're starting to see those two-out hits. Tonight we had two two-out hits in a row. Guys are getting in the box and competing a little bit more with two outs and bringing in some runs. That's good to see.”

Gerdes led the Hounds with two RBIs on a 1-for-4 day at the plate. Landes Williams paced Fort Madison with three runs scored, while Cordray collected two runs. Gerdes also picked up the win, going 6 1/3 innings on 103 pitches. He allowed nine hits, three earned runs and struck out six.

Fort Madison’s next contest is scheduled for Monday July 8 back at home against New London.

TheBloodhounds are now 12-12 on the year and will take on Van Buren back at home for a single contest.

Mohrfeld said his statement was more of commentary on why the city didn't react three years ago when the extra expenses were added to the budget. Public Works Director Larry Driscoll said the city did a rate survey and took a hard look at what residents would be able to afford.

“We did a rate study revenue-wise and we took into consideration what people could afford and tried to base our budget off of that. I don't think it's the wrong approach,” Driscoll said.

“It's slim pickings in that department and it's an efficient department. So there's no savings there for personnel. Our hope and prayer is to continue with these (sewer separation) in-house projects, otherwise financially we'll be wiped out. I think we're rolling the dice that my department will be able to perform these projects and not taking on anymore.”

Mohrfeld said he felt the city was going to eventually have to trim expenses or find additional revenues on top of the new increases to save the department.

“This is kind of a commentary of why we didn't react three years ago. I'm sorry but that's remiss and I find it frustrating at a lot of levels,” he said.

“Be forewarned this $150,000 is not going to cover that million additional expense. We're going to have to trim the expenses in the budget or have another revenue source. How did we think this was going to get paid off?”

One glaring expense is debt reduction for the city's waste water treatment plant upgrades. Additionally the city is currently under Environmental Protection Agency mandates on additional sanitary and storm sewer drain separations.

The increase was approved 6-1 with Mohrfeld voting against the rate change. In an unrelated issue, the council approved a 20-year agreement with American Cruise Lines to allow docking space on the city's current pier on the west side of Riverview Park.

The lease is only exclusive to American according to their schedule of stops. The pier's east side would be available to other boats at any time as American would dock on the west side. But American will have rights to the west side per their cruising schedule. American has also indicated there could be times when two ships would be in town at the same time.

The cruise line is expecting 10 stops this year and up to 30 annually in a six-month cruising season. The stop will be part of the company's St. Louis to St. Paul excursions.

“They turn the schedule into us and when they are scheduled it is exclusive to them and when they are not there anyone is open to use the dock. So it's only exclusive when they are here,” City Manager David Varley said.

Councilman Chris Greenwald, serving as Mayor Pro-Tem in Mayor Brad Randolph's absence asked Varley if the docking agreement would still allow for Viking Cruise Lines to dock on the riverfront, if $1.7 million in improvement funding can be located.

Varley said that would still be a viable option.

The cruise lines will bring 160-200 per ship running from St. Louis to St. Paul and, with the tour, passengers will get a local tour of Fort Madison, Varley said.

The cruise line will pay the city $1 per passenger as rent for the pier and that rate will increase by 25 cents every two years. The city will invest about $15,000 in pier improvement and American is contributing an additional $15,000 for the work.

The council approved the measure 7-0.

The council also approved a Jones Contracting bid of $470,000 for the reconstruction of Avenue I between 35th and 36th Street to take some of the curve out of the road. The engineering estimate for the project was $550,000.

Arrest stems from three-state investigation

Lee County Sheriff Stacy Weber said the investigation is a result of interdepartmental teamwork and the ability of detectives to focus on serious crimes.

“This is just another example of teamwork from area detectives who are left alone to concentrate on serious crimes that should take priority in today’s world,” said Lee County Sheriff Stacy Weber.

Assisting the Nauvoo Police Department in the investigation were the Hancock County State’s Attorney Rachel B. Mast; Macomb Police Department; Illinois Attorney General’s Office; Ft. Madison Police Department; Hamilton Police Department; Hancock County Sheriff’s Office; Lee County, Iowa Attorney’s Office; Lee County, Iowa Sheriff’s Office; Des Moines County, Iowa Attorney’s Office; Des Moines County, Iowa Sheriff’s Office; Reno, Nevada Police Department; Washoe County, Nevada Child Advocacy Center; Children’s Advocacy Center of Hancock County; and the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.
