The cast for “What to Expect When You’re Expecting In-Laws” rehearsed last week at the Old Fort Players Theater in anticipation of the October fall production.

Big things expected from
OFP’s next production

BY DOROTHY SCHULTE
Old Fort Players

FORT MADISON – Expect some good entertainment the next time you head down to Old Fort Players Community Theater.

Their fall production, “What to Expect When You’re Expecting Your In-Laws,” is written by Brian Mitchell. The writer has been in close contact with the director and cast – checking up to make sure they are having fun!

What can you expect as far as plot twists? Here goes: Sam and Gwen are expecting their first child and after moving into their new apartment, Gwen’s divorced parents arrive separately, unexpectedly and bitterly.

As an unforeseen winter blizzard roars outside, Sam suddenly realizes they will all be stuck together for some time. Not to be outdone by a cataclysmic weather event, father-in-law, Jack brings his mistress along. Then just when you thought things couldn’t get more chaotic, Gwen goes into labor.

Now, some people would be shocked by such events, but for Sam it’s just what to expect when you’re expecting your in-laws.

A newcomer to OFP, but not to entertainment, is local musician Amanda Greenhelge. She has been cast as Gwen, the daughter who is, you guessed it, ‘expecting.’ In one scene, the character breaks into song.

OFP Volunteer, Dorothy Schulte recounted what she saw at rehearsal one night.

“Now most actors will just sort of warble out something resembling a tune and hope no one notices. But not Greenhelge, she just cut loose with perfect pitch and blew the roof off. I turned to (Director) Angela and said, ‘Can we get her into a musical?’ I was bowled over.”

Jadi Lynn Zioui is another new face at OFP. As Tatyanas, Jack’s mistress, Jadi is calling on her colorful background as the world’s last hippie. You may know her as the writer, director, and lead in 2018’s Fort Madison Dead Zone and her byline at the Daily Democrat.

Sherry Stice is Amanda, the mom. “Sherry is a favorite.”

FORT MADISON – According to Fort Madison City Clerk Melinda Blind, four people will run for the mayor’s seat for Fort Madison in the November 5 election. Current City Councilman Matt Mohrfeld announced his candidacy last month, but since then Rodney Hoskins, Jason Eaves and Joseph Helmick all turned in papers before Thursday’s filing deadline. Current Mayor Brad Randolph said he was not going to see re-election last month.

At-large councilman Kevin Rink turned in papers to retain his council seat and will be challenged by Jerry Hamelton.

In the first ward, Rebecca Bowker and former mayoral candidate Chris Sorrentino will battle it out. For the 3rd ward seat only Tyler Miller turned in papers, and Chad Cangas will run unopposed to hold onto his 5th Ward seat. Mohrfeld currently holds the 3rd Ward seat.

Pen City Current will run features outlining each contested election in the weeks prior to the election.

Burlington gets $135K for runway project

WASHINGTON – Congressman Dave Loebsack announced today that the Southeast Iowa Regional Airport will receive an $135,267 grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation’s Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) grant program.

The funding will be used for design review and construction inspection of the runway reconstruction project.

“The Southeast Iowa Regional Airport plays a critical role in fueling economic development in the area, allowing the community to continue to grow,” said Loebsack.

“I am pleased the Southeast Iowa Regional Airport is receiving the final portion of their grant to finish the runway reconstruction. I look forward to seeing the finished project!”

MICHAEL EDWARD TAYLOR

Michael Edward Taylor, 56, of Argyle, Iowa passed away Wednesday, September 18, 2019 at 2:46 p.m. at his home.

He was born January 31, 1963 to Donald and Lila (Foster) Taylor. Michael was preceded in death by his grandparents; parents; a sister, Mary Childers; and a brother-in-law, Jim Childers.

Survivors include his daughter: Tanya Martin of Woodstock, Illinois; his grandson: Michael Regan Jr. of Woodstock, Illinois; two sisters: Evelyn Taylor Minor of Rockaway Beach, Missouri and Joanne (Mike) Townsley of Muscatine, Iowa; two nieces: Tammy Taylor and Michelle (Dustin) Keiser; four nephews: Timothy Childers, Mike Townsley, Mark Taylor and Marvin Taylor. He is also survived by several great nieces and nephews.

Michael enjoyed being on his CB; his handle was the Bettendorf Bandit. Most of all, he loved his family.

His body has been entrusted to Schmitz Funeral Home in Donnellson, Iowa for cremation. There are no services planned.

On-line condolences to the family may be left at www.schmitzfuneralhomes@windstream.com.

Bloodhounds’ offense opens up in 26-7 win

BY JOHN BOHENCHAMP
PCC SPORTS

FORT MADISON – Fort Madison High School’s defense wanted the shutout. But Friday’s 28-6 win over Burlington at Richmond Stadium was more than good enough.

“We were so close (to the shutout), but we just couldn’t get it,” said junior Will Larson, whose big night on both sides of the ball helped the Bloodhounds (3-1) get the victory.

“It feels good. We knew we could do this. We have a defense where everybody does their job,” Fort Madison coach Derek Doherty said. “It didn’t happen. But we still played hard.”

“It was a great win for us.”

Burlington (1-3) didn’t score until the fourth quarter, when D.J. Pugh scored on a 3-yard run on fourth down. Until then, the Bloodhound defense was in command, with three interceptions and a fumble recovery to stop the Grayhounds.

“It was just a roller-coaster game,” Doherty said.

“We have to sharpen this penalty stuff up, no matter how we feel about it — good call, bad call,” Doherty said. “We can’t be in those situations, and that’s on me. We have to fix that. If we do that, I think we’re a good football team.”

Larson threw for all four of Fort Madison’s touchdowns — two each to Quentin Schneider and Parker Denning.

Larson threw a 14-yard pass to Schneider for the first score on Fort Madison’s opening possession after an interception. He added a second-quarter 2-yard TD pass to Denning, then threw a 9-yarder to him in the third. A 63-yard TD pass to Schneider later in the third quarter closed Fort Madison’s scoring.

Larson threw for 243 yards and added 79 rushing yards on just five carries.

“He’s starting to develop into an RPO quarterback,” Doherty said. “He’s starting to see things, he’s under- standing the offense better and better every week. He’s a film-study guy. We’re really happy with the progress he’s making.”

Fort Madison had 395 yards of offense. Schneider had 129 receiving yards. Calem MacLearn had 60 rushing yards.

Burlington had 261 yards of offense. Trey King rushed for 101 yards.

“We came out, we had the energy, effort and attitude,” Larson said. “That’s what they preach to us. And we knew we could get the win.”

Fort Madison opens Class 3A District 6 play at Solon next Friday.

“It will be the same kind of week for us,” Larson said. “Just keep playing the way we’ve been playing.”

Romeo Maestro led the Hounds on defense again with nine tackles, five solo. Larson and Tate Johnson both had interceptions for Fort Madison.

Central Lee falls to 0-4 with Homecoming loss

DONELLSON – West Burlington-Notre Dame spoiled Central Lee’s Homecoming Friday night with a 27-6 win in non-district Class 2A football action.

West Burlington scored a touchdown in each quarter, three on runs and then on a 45-yard pass play from Anthony Hoffman to Kendall Baker.

Central Lee scored in the third period down 14-0 when David Vance rushed for 101 yards.

The Hawks were led on the ground by Dalton Westercamp who had 55 yards on 10 carries. Adam Boeck, who started at quarterback for the day in three games.

Sophomore Kasi Randolph led the 9th-rated Class 1A Crusaders 6-4 (2-2) in the 23-25, 22-25, 10-25 loss. Randolph was 21-22 hitting with five kills and 13 assists. She also was 9-11 from the service line with an ace, 12 digs, and two blocks.

Claire Pothitakis had 10 kills on the night and was 32 of 34 attacking. Maria Rauenbuehler was 12 of 12 serving and had 28 digs from the libero spot.

Bailey Hellweg led the Crusaders with 14 assists on the night.

Van Buren (12-2) was paced by senior Salena Sayre who had 20 kills on 43 attacks. She also had 18 digs and was 13 of 15 serving with three aces.

Holy Trinity traveled to Keokuk on Saturday for an invitational tourney, before hosting the HTCS Classic starting at 4 p.m. Monday night at Shottenkirk Gymnasium.
